

Duxbury Clipper, Wednesday, October 22, 1997

Cranberry Harvest TimePhotos by Fran Nichols*

Tom King drives a water reel across the Merry-Gifford bog during the '97 cranberry harvest.

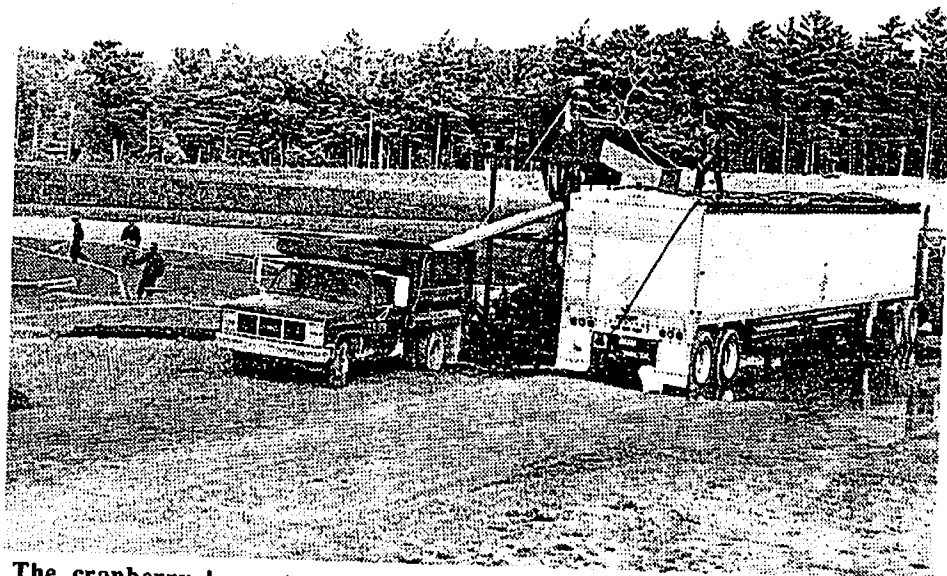

The cranberries being "wet picked" here are headed for the Clermont processing plant in New York where they will be made into juice.

Workers on the cranberry bog use booms to move the berries toward the conveyor.

Winthrop ("Butch") Atwood, Leo Atwood and Bob Merry pause for a photo during the cranberry harvest.

The cranberry harvest on Edward Koplovsky's bog on High St.